Local Happenings

For the safest Insurance, See Warner at the News Office.

The Monitor Orchestra recently filled an engagement at Superb, and report a splendid time and a good turn out.

Saturdays showers were very welcome to the district; coming right after the hot spell. We were told by a man who has travelled extensively throughout the Province that the best crops he has seen this year are between Kirriemuir and Vetteran.

Jas. Taylor, accountant at the Bank here, left for his holidays on Friday last.

Dr. Mason reports a splendid time at the Battle River Stampede. We understand that this affair will be made an annual event.

Chas. B. Horsch, our local Ford dealer, has received another consignment of Ford Cars. They sure do look nice, all lined up in his fine garage, and, take it from us, are quite a silent salesman.

J.H. McGirr, Esq., returned from his holidays in Ontario on Monday last. Mac says he has had a whale of a time, and certainly looks a lot better. 'Sall right, girls—he is still single.

The other day young Blank wanted to read the Monitor News' report on the baseball. Not being wise enough to subscribe to the paper for himself and for his family, he went over to Jones to borrow his paper. His way led him over a fence built beside a pig-pen and it so happened that he slipped on the top bar, and fell into the pig pen, and right on top of a pig, killing the animal instantly. The racket scared a colt nearby which bolted into a clothes line fastened to a post. The post flew through the air, and struck a cow, breaking two of her legs. The colt dashed on into a barbed wire fence, and as a result the Veterinary was called in a hurry. When the Vet came he scared Mrs. Jones chickens all to hell, one of them flying through the pantry window and spilling about 12 quarts of cream. Mrs. Jones came hurrying from the kitchen to see what the matter was, forgot the cellar door was open, and promptly fell down the cellar, breaking her arm and making her a cripple for life. Young Jones came to the rescue of his mother and in the hurry knocked over a loaded gun which was standing in the corner. The gun went off and shot a pure bred bull in the eye, killing it instantly. The hired girl, who was getting some water to help Mrs. Jones was so scared that she fell down the well, and was practically drowned. Old man Jones got so excited that he set fire to the house and burnt the copy of the news, so Blank had to come to town and buy a copy for himself.

PLEASE

We wish to inform our readers that we are rapidly approaching the end of our financial tether. The subscriptions now overdue to this paper amount to a very large sum, and frankly, we cannot get along without it. We have large bills to meet of our own and in order to keep running, must collect our outstanding subscriptions. The amount involved, individually, is very small, but in the aggregate is sufficient to guarantee our remaining in business for some time to come.

Notices were sent out last week to those who are in arrears, and it is to those people that this request is addressed. If this notice is ignored, it will be necessary for us to place the various amounts involved in the hands of a collection agency—the last thing we wish to do.

The Imperial Oil Company, who for the past two weeks have been at a standstill owing to accidents and delays at the well have re-commenced operations and are now going full speed ahead. They started up again last Monday with considerable new equipment and it is estimated that definite news regarding the value of the well will be forthcoming within the next month.

Miss Minnie Herman, of Calgary, is visiting with Miss Rhoda Cameron of this city.

The revised results of the recent elections, give the Farmers party 39 seats in the House, and not 37 as we published last week.

The sad news of the death of Mr. Hedderly, of Kirriemuir was received here on Monday evening last. We understand the deceased had been suffering from heart trouble for a considerable time, and that death was due to heart failure.

W.H. Olson left for Kirriemuir and points east on Monday last, on business.

It is reported that lightning struck the barn of Mr. Bibby, just east of Consort, on Monday last, totally destroying the edifice. We understand that the barn was newly built. Insurance was carried.

We wish the person or persons who removed the hoe from the vicinity of the tennis court, would return the same at once, as it is needed there.

The Board of Trade meets on Monday evening next. It is hoped there will be a good turn out.

LOCAL ITEMS

Bob Lay got a helluva scare during the storm last Monday a.m. The tarpaulin covering his Lizzie got wet and heavy, and the wind blew it against the horn of the car. Seeing that it was one of these touch and go affairs, the result may be imagined. Weird and dismal groans and sounds emanated into a dismal early morning, and Bob thought the ghost of his ancestors had arrived on the scene to accuse him of holding four acres and the joker against a full house. However, no such luck. But he had to put on some clothes and go out in the storm and quieten the horn at that.

We understand the citizens of Monitor are to have another Musical event in the near future. It is intimated that the justly famous Monitor Citizens Band Orchestra are to stage a Grand Concert, assisted by local vocal talent. If the concert is staged, we can assure our readers that they will have one of the finest evenings entertainment ever offered in Monitor. Mr. F. M. Tarr, leader of the Band and Orchestra, assures us that the members are rapidly approaching perfection in their various instruments, and it will be really worth while to have a concert of strictly home talent. We agree with Mr. Tarr—not because we play the "Big Horn", in the band, but because we appreciate the whole-hearted efforts of Mr. Tarr, and Mr. Fritz Hanson his assistant to give us some real music.

At this time of the year, it is extremely difficult to get the members of Band and Orchestra out to practice, owing to the seeding, harvesting and kindred pursuits. Nevertheless, the Orchestra is in splendid shape, and we can only express the wish to have the Concert, as mentioned, pushed to completion.

Instructions were received last week from the Provincial M.H.O. to close the wells in the restaurants here.

WEEDS

Weeds should not be a menace, but be turned to profit. The best way to use them is in feeding sheep. At the terminal elevators, weed seed and cracked wheat or any other grain found in wheat is cleaned out and fed to sheep. The farmer has raised the weed seed, paid for threshing, paid the freight to Ft. William, then docked the weight of same and someone else uses the dockage to make money feeding sheep—One million dollars paid by the farmer in the last 3 years. Let them be fed on the farm. Their summer feed should be the weeds on the deserted lands, and winter feed the weeds that grow on the farm, put up as hay and the seed from under and around the threshing machine together with that cleaned out of the grain.

Let every farm have at least 10 sheep. Every woman at least 5 and every child from 1 to 5. The income and increase of the child's sheep to be kept to assist in finishing the education.

This should be a community problem in which every person should be interested—to save the country expense of cutting weeds. Have the municipality furnish a good shepherd to herd all the sheep together in one big flock over the vacant deserted and weedy land and over the weeds on any other farm that the owner wishes. Sheep properly managed mean more profit for the labor than any other farm effort. I appeal to the women of the community to take this matter up as THEIR BUSINESS and a small steady income to start a savings account for the children.

Weather, hail, frost, drought, hot winds, blight, grasshoppers, saw-fly, cut-worms or any other enemies of the grain visit the district. Weeds and plants of nature grow, and you are sure of a crop of lambs every year. Good lambs are 9c per lb in Calgary, while store sheep to start with, are cheap.

The Government is so anxious to have you use sheep on those weeds that they will pay the freight from Calgary. Everybody get a sheep this fall and learn how to make money out of waste. Start at the bottom and grow into the business.

I urge every sheep man and those expecting to have sheep to meet at R.N. Lays office on Saturday July 30, and organize a plan for the assistance of the small owners so that all sheep can be bunched, and all get some profit from the weeds, and save the weed infested land owners a loss from cutting next year and save the Municipality the expense of a weed inspector.

The Wool growers Association market your wool for you. The strongest co-operative as of a farm product to day, which means a good future for wool. Take a lesson from this marketing by co-operation in bunching your flocks. New Zealand ships mutton to Monitor—Raise your own mutton, and eat it.

Isn't it somewhere near time when a little repairing could be done to the sidewalk on Main St. As it is, one never knows whether or not they have to pull off a see-saw stunt on the end of a plank in the sidewalk. Its rather embarrassing, especially if you happen to be packing a bag of eggs.

There are natives in Central Africa who can jump five feet into the air, from a standing position without an effort—Neepawa Register.

That's nuthin. Last week we helped Jack Grace slaughter a wild and wooly steer, and in the excitement of being chased round the corral, we found our selves on the other side of an 8 feet fence. It was so easy, that we still have no knowledge of performing the feat.

"A Message To Garcia"

Some years ago the late Elbert Hubbard wrote what he himself termed "a literary trifle," entitled "A Message to Garcia." Did you ever read it? If not, get a copy and do so; it will repay you. Hubbard wrote it in an hour one evening after supper. Of this "literary trifle" he himself said: "The thing leaped hot from my heart, written after a trying day, when I had been endeavoring to train some rather delinquent villagers to abjure the comatose state and get radioactive." In the course of a few years "A Message to Garcia" was translated into every known language and over forty million copies had been printed. And its sale still continues.

The story itself is brief; it is the wonderful lesson it conveys that counts. When war broke out between the United States and Spain over Cuba, it was very necessary for the United States Government to communicate quickly with the leader of the Cuban Insurgents. General Garcia was somewhere in the mountain fastnesses of Cuba—no one knew where. No mail or telegraph message could reach him. The President must secure his co-operation, and quickly. But how?

Someone said to the President, "There is a fellow by the name of Rowan who will find Garcia for you, if anybody can." Rowan was sent for and given a letter to be delivered to Garcia. The "fellow by the name of Rowan" took the letter, sealed it up in an oilskin pouch, strapped it over his heart, in four days landed by night off the coast of Cuba from an open boat, disappeared into the jungle, and in three weeks came out on the other side of the island, having traversed a hostile country on foot, and delivered his letter to Garcia.

Now the point of this story is not the bravery of the man in thus risking his life, for thousands of men would unquestioning run equal or greater risks; the point is that Rowan took the letter and did not stop to ask a multitude of questions, such as "Who is Garcia?" "Where is he to be found?" "What does he look like?" "What do you want him for?" "Is there any particular hurry?" No, Rowan took the letter and started, knowing that all that was required of him was to deliver it. He had one clear-cut job to do, and he proceeded to do it.

How many of the countless millions of men and women who are employed in shops, factories, stores and offices today, yes, and on the farms, are possessed of Rowan's characteristics? How many display the same loyalty to a trust, act promptly and without questioning, concentrate their energies on the task before them; in a word, do the thing—"Carry a message to Garcia?" The regrettable fact is that not one in ten do so. Yet it does not call for any special training, or ability, but merely the exercise of will and a determination to do and win.

As Elbert Hubbard pointed out in his little booklet, General Garcia is dead now, but there are other Garcias to whom messages have to be delivered daily. No man who has endeavored to carry out an enterprise where many hands were needed, no man directing a large business, but has been well-nigh appalled at times by the ineptitude of the average man—the inability or unwillingness to concentrate on a thing and do it. Slipshod assistance, foolish inattention, drowsy indifference and half-hearted work seem the rule, and no man succeeds, unless by hook or crook or threat he forces or bribes other men to assist him; or, mayhap, God in His goodness performs a miracle, and sends him an Angel of Light for an assistant.

Today the average employee is more concerned about working as few hours as he possibly can manage to get away with and still hold his job. His ambition seems to be, not to excel in his work, but to collect from his employer as large a wage as possible in return for which he gives as little as possible. If employers grant an 8-hour day, the employees of this day and generation immediately organize and combine to compel them to concede a 7-hour day, but they still want an 8-hour day wage. They insist upon the observance of all holidays, but demand to be paid just the same. If asked in an emergency to do a piece of work which ordinarily does not fall within their duties, they object, claiming they were not hired for that purpose. Fellows "by the name of Rowan" seem to be mighty scarce these days, and the lack of initiative displayed by the average employee is simply appalling, coupled with an absolute unwillingness to make his employer's interests his own.

This incapacity for independent action, this moral stupidity, this infirmity of the will, this willingness to cheerfully catch hold and lift—these are the things that put pure Socialism so far into the future and make thoughtful men and women reluctant to advance certain movements which might be mighty for the benefit of all. If men will not act for themselves, what will they do when the benefit of their effort is for all?

It is the men of the Rowan type who are getting on in the world, while these others remain the willing slaves of the "walking bosses" of the Labor Unions. In self-protection the employer is forced to constantly resort to a weeding-out process, and no matter how good times may be, the incapables and ne'er-do-wells are out of work, having been replaced by others; and when times are hard the sorting-out process is done finer—but out and forever out the incompetent and unworthy go.

But there is always an opening, steady employment and a bright future for men and women who can be trusted to "Carry a message to Garcia" whenever they are called upon to do so.

Alberta Highways

Alberta Link of the Trans-Canadian Road Will Be Completed This Year.

Huge sums of money are being spent in road construction in Alberta this season. The Alberta link of the trans-Canadian road will be completed this year. The greater part of the road work in the province this season has been in the construction and re-paving of the trunk road, but next year branch and district roads are to receive the most attention, and by 1923 it is expected that the province will have a network of highways that will be second to none on the American continent.

The Alberta Government is being assisted in the construction of the trunk roads by a grant of forty per cent. of the cost for these roads which the Dominion Government is making. The road work reaches a certain standard which the Dominion Government has set.

Dr. Magill Does Not Anticipate Difficulty From U.S. Tariff.

Dr. Magill, secretary of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange, interviewed at Ottawa, was of the opinion that there will be no difficulty in marketing the western wheat crop, despite the United States tariff. Dr. Magill intimated that English buyers are already in the market for vast quantities of Canadian grain, and that the United States will have to buy large quantities in any event.

GUARD BABY'S HEALTH IN THE SUMMER

The summer months are the most dangerous to children. The complaints of that season, which are cholera infantum, colic, diarrhea and dysentery, come on so quickly that often a little one is beyond aid before the mother realizes he is ill. The mother must be on her guard to prevent these troubles, or if they do come on suddenly to banish them. No other medicine is of such aid to mothers during hot weather as is Baby's Own Tablets. They regulate the stomach and bowels and are absolutely safe. Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at cost a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Read The Advertisements

Make Your Purchases From Your Merchants and Help Stimulate Business.

The publishers of this paper draw your attention to the advertising columns, and particularly to the advertisements of the local merchants.

These merchants have invested their money in goods to satisfy the needs and desires of us all.

Their enterprise is a distinct service to our community. For this reason we should buy from them to the best of our ability and in so far as our needs and judgment of value dictates.

Then, too, the general commodities advertised in our columns are worthy of consideration. It is desirable that readers should ask merchants to supply advertised goods wherever possible. By doing so the cycle of trade is kept alive and inter-community commerce stimulated. We repeat—read the advertisements.

Be fair to your local merchants. Ask to see his goods and compare prices before sending your money to the mail order houses. You will find that it pays.

Her Improvement Is Now Talk Of Friends Says Toronto Woman

"Tanlac has certainly had a good chance in my case to show what it can do, for I surely had a long, hard struggle and had just about tried everything," said Mrs. Mary Richards, 251 Ashdale Ave., Toronto.

"I have been in a badly run-down condition ever since I had pneumonia six years ago. My stomach was nearly always out of order. My appetite was very poor and I had to be very careful about what I ate, as I suffered terribly from indigestion, bronchitis and pains in my chest. My sleep was never sound and I had a tired, worn out feeling all the time. I had dreadful headaches and weak spells and had fallen off in weight until I was scarcely more than a shadow of my former self, and I was absolutely unfit for work of any kind.

"But Tanlac has done me a world of good. My stomach is in fine condition now and I eat all I want and everything agrees with me perfectly. All my aches and pains are a thing of the past and I'm stronger than I've been in a long time. In fact, Tanlac has the same as made a new person of me, for I can do my household work with ease and my friends are talking about the wonderful change that has come over me. I don't believe anyone who suffers as I did can do better than take Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold by leading druggists everywhere.

What It Costs

To Make Shoes

Labor Averages Only One Dollar A Pair.

If shoe workers worked for nothing it would not affect the price of boots and shoes more than a dollar a pair.

This is the answer of General Organizer E. W. O'Dell, of the Boot and Shoe Workers' Union, to the charge that labor costs were preventing a reduction in the price of shoes and boots.

"The average labor cost in a pair of boots or shoes is no more than a dollar, the maximum being $1.25 in a $16 pair," he said.

It was suggested, he added, that a cement or steel casing round the hull might be made, and as the Admiralty has no funds available, something would have to be done by public help.

Harris's thoughts were on his team on the two cows trudging behind, and on the multiplicity of arrangements which his new life would present for decision and settlement. But his wife gazed silently out over the ocean of snow. The rays of the sun fell gratefully on her cheeks, pale and somewhat wan with her long journey. But the sun went down, and the western sky, cloudless and measureless, faded from gold to copper, and from copper to silver, and from silver to lead. Turning uncomfortably in her crowded seat the girl looked out beyond the last of the teams, the road over which they had travelled, stretching away until it lost itself, a point in the gathering darkness. To the west it lost itself over the shoulder of the prairie. The men had ceased to shout to each other; the cattle plodded uncomplainingly; silently they moved in the midst of silence expanding into the infinite. It was her first sight of the prairie, and a strange mixture of emotions, of awe, and loneliness and a certain indifference to personal consequences, welled up within her. Once or twice she thought of home—a home so far away that it might as well be in another planet. But she would not let her mind dwell on it for long. She was going to be brave. She had talked with the other women on the train and in the town. They were women from Ontario farms, some of them well into middle life, women who had known the drudgery of farm-mitting toil since childhood. Their speech was faulty; their manners would not have passed muster under her old associations; but their quiet optimism was unbounded, and their courage was an inspiration. She too would be brave! For the sake of the brave man who sat at her side, guiding his team in the deepening darkness; for the sake of the new home that they two should build somewhere over the horizon; for the sake of the civilization that must arise, of the manhood and womanhood of to-morrow—she would be brave. Deep in her heart she swore she would be brave, even while a recalcitrant team stole forth unbidden and froze into a little pearl of pathos on her cheek.

A bright star shone down from the west; one by one they appeared in the heavens. It grew colder. The snow no longer caressed the horses' feet; the sleigh-runners creaked and whined unceasingly. Suddenly a strange sound came down on the north wind—a sound that made the girl who had just been yawning to be brave, nestle still closer to the big man at her side, and his arm felt protectively about her. It was a succession of sharp barks like those of a dog, but the barks presently ran together in a long, doleful howl that rose in a high crescendo on the night air, and then slowly died away into a minor note that seemed to echo back and forth across the plain. It died out in one point of the compass it was taken up in another, until the little party wending its way in the darkness seemed altogether surrounded by it.

"What is it?" whispered the girl. "What is it, Jack? Do you know?" "I don't know," said the man. "It sounds like—wolves."

"Don't be alarmed, Mrs. Harris," said a quiet voice. Looking around they found the doctor sitting up in the sleigh. He had fallen asleep as soon as the journey started, and they had almost forgotten his presence.

"Don't be alarmed," he repeated. "Their howl is the only terrifying thing about them. Prairie wolves are very different from their cousins of the woods. They fill the night air with their howling, but they are cowardly brutes and would rather run than fight."

"I suppose you have had some strange experiences with animals of the prairies," said the girl, with a brave effort to appear at ease, but before the doctor could answer the team came to a sudden stop. This time in front was obstructing the road, and the party closed up in solid formation.

"Camp Number One," called Aleck McCrae, from the head sleigh. "The horses and cattle are tired, an—"

"And the captain is hungry," put in Ned Beaton. "Isn't that right?"

"Well, Ah, an' a'nd a' young appetite," admitted Aleck, exhibiting the slack of his belt. "Now, run these sleighs up in two rows, and Aleck indicated where he wanted them placed."

ed. "It's hard on the horses an' cattle, after the warm cars, but they'll stand it to-night if they're well blanketed. To-morrow night we'll be among the Mennonites, with a chance of getting stable room."

Under Aleck's direction the sleighs were run up in two rows, about twenty feet apart, facing the north. Two sleighs were then run across the opening at the north end, so that altogether they formed a three-sided court. Men with shovels quickly cleared the snow from the northerly portion of the court, and there the tent was pitched. On the south side of the tent, where they were sheltered from the north wind, the horses and cattle were lined up as closely as they could be crowded. Horse blankets, buffalo robes and carpets and even family bedding, were tied about the animals. The horses were supplied with hay and oats and the cattle with hay alone, and after eating they lay down for the night, and were soon blowing and heaving in a warm fog of comfort.

Meanwhile inside the tent was a scene of great activity. The ground was covered with blankets, robes and bedding. A lantern from the centre pole sent wedge-shaped shadows darting back and forth; the camp stove was set up, and a fire from wood which McCrae had brought along was soon crackling in it. Pots and pans were produced; women eager to be of service swarmed about the stove, and children, free at last of their muffling wraps, roused in high-laughtered gambols, the robes and danced back and forward with the swinging shadows.

"Now this don't do at all," said McCrae, turning from an inspection of affairs outside. "Too many cooks you know. Ah want one woman here. Everybody else sit down!"

The captain's word was recognized as law. He selected an able-looking settler's wife as assistant cook, while the others, men, women and children, sitting down, seemed to fill the tent to the limit of its capacity.

Savoury smells soon were coming from hot fry-pans, as sliced ham, with bread and gravy, was served up in tin plates and passed about the tent. Everybody—married men and women, maidens and young men, girls, boys, and little children—was ravenously hungry, and for a few minutes little could be heard but the phlegm of the viands. But as the first edge of hunger became dulled the edge of wit sharpened, and laughter and banter rolled back and forth through the tent. The doctor, now quite sober, took a census, and found the total population to be twenty-eight. These he classified as twelve married, eight eligible, seven children, and himself, for whom he found no classification.

"You have a head for figures, Harris, I think," he said. "How much space can be allotted to each?"

Harris found that the tent was twelve by eighteen feet, and that about eight feet of floor space would be available for each person, if they moved the stove out.

"The space is sufficient, but the ventilation is not," said the doctor, as he set about opening ventilator flaps. "If I am to be responsible for your health there are just two rules to follow. One is that Aleck McCrae tells you, and don't be afraid of fresh air, even with frost in it."

The tin plates had gone back to McCrae, and were returning, loaded this time with bread and molasses. A steaming cup of tea accompanied each plate. Fortunately there was milk for the children, two of the cows having contributed an important item of the commissariat.

When the meal was over and the dishes washed and packed, Aleck made another round of the camp before settling down for the night. Meantime mothers gathered their families about them as best they could; the little ones sleepily mumbled their prayers, and all hands, young and old, nestled down like a brood of tired chickens under the white wings of the protecting tent. Outside the ground-drifts gently about the sleighs, the cows sighed in contentment, and the wolves yapped to each other in the distance.

CHAPTER III. Prairie Land.

The afternoon that has just been described was typical of the days that were to follow as the immigrant party laboured its slow pilgrimage into the Farther West. True, they entered on the very next day a district having some pretence of settlement, where it was sometimes possible to secure shelter for the women and children under hospitable Mennonite roofs. The peculiar housekeeping principles of this class of settlers, however, which involved the lodging of cattle and horses in the same building with the human members of the family, discouraged too great intimacy with them, and for the most part the newcomers preferred the shelter of their own tent. They soon emerged from the Red River Valley, left the vast, level, treeless plain behind them, and plunged into the rolling and lightly wooded Peninsula region. Here clumps of small willows and, where repeated fires had not destroyed them, light bluffs of slender poplars afforded a measure of protection, and from the resources of the few scattered settlers already in the country they were able to replenish their supplies of fodder for the stock, and even to add to their own larder. Fortunately the wind continued to blow from the north, and, although the sun shone with astonishing fierceness in the middle of the day, the snow thawed but little and the trail remained passable. Other parties of settlers, moving slowly westward to the region where homesteads were still available, or moving into lands located the previous year, were overtaken; and again the party were themselves overtaken by more rapidly moving immigrants from behind, so that in the course of four or five days their cavalcade stretched far ahead and far to the rear. Acquaintanceships were made quickly—no one stood on ceremony; and as the journey wore on the Harris began to feel that they already possessed many friends in the country, and that life on the prairie would not be altogether lonely.

After numerous consultations with McCrae, Harris had arranged that his immediate destination should be in a district where the scrub prairie melted into open prairie on the western side of the Peninsula. The Arthurs, who were also of the party, had heard of this, and Fred Arthurs had built a little house on the land the year before. Arthurs was now bringing his young wife to share with him the privations and the privileges of their new home. A friendship had already sprung up between Mrs. Arthurs and Mrs. Harris; and nothing seemed more appropriate than that the two women should occupy the house together while Harris sought out his new homestead land and Arthurs proceeded with the development of his farm. It was McCrae, whose interest in every member of the expedition was that of a father, that dropped the great suggestion into the Harris's receptive ear, and it was with paternal satisfaction he found the young couples speedily work out for themselves their arrangements in which he had planned for them all along.

After the crossing of the Peninsula the party began to scatter—some to homesteads already located; others to friends who would billet them on their arrangements were completed. As team after team swung out from the main road a certain sense of loss was experienced by those who were left, but it was cheery words and good wishes and mutual invitations that marked each separation. At length came the trail, almost lost in the disappearing snow, that led to Arthurs' homestead. A quick handshake with McCrae, Ned Beaton and the doctor, and a few others who had grown upon them in the journey, and the two young couples turned out to break their way over the little-used track that now lay before them.

The Unfortunate Rich

Children of Wealthy Parents Not As Well Nourished As The Poor.

In these days of the year when attention is specially directed to the health of children, during the trying time of summer heat it is of some interest to note that in the United States it is being found that the greatest percentage of delicate children are in wealthy homes. A report made this week on a child-welfare survey of Chicago revealed that in the matter of weight, on the indications of subnormal physical condition fifty per cent. of the children in the fashionable North Side were deficient, while below the stockyards only eighteen per cent. were underweight. In the tenement district of the northern part of the city only one child in six was below normal.

These findings bear out the representation made to the American Medical Association recently by specialists in children's diseases. The testimony of these specialists was to the effect that there was about twice the extent of malnutrition among children of the rich than there is among the poor. The blame to a considerable extent was placed on bottle-feeding in infancy and too much rich food later. If the conditions reported are common, the poor child in a great many cases is vastly better off than the rich one, for health is not to be valued in money.—Ottawa Journal.

American Capital Interested

Minnesota and Wisconsin Banks Buy Land in Edmonton District.

A party of Minnesota and Wisconsin bankers have been visiting Edmonton and surrounding country. Those comprising the party are: G. H. Thacker, head of the Thacker Bond and Mortgage Company, of Minneapolis, is the head of the party, and his associates are R. C. Stuart, of the Ripon State Bank, Ripon, Wis.; W. A. Loveland, of the Abank of Monticello, Monticello, Wis.; and Otto E. Born, of the Kraemer-Born Investment and Banking Company, Fond du Lac, Wis.

The interests represented by the quartette of bankers have investments of $2,000,000 in Alberta, mostly in the central and northern part of the province, and have added to their holdings during the present tour.

The Clover Bar, Fort Saskatchewan, Legal and Morinville districts were visited by the party and much satisfaction was expressed with the appearance of the country and the agricultural development everywhere in evidence. The report of their opinions, voiced particularly through Mr. Thacker was that an increased flow of capital from the other side of the line might be looked for as time went on. The possibilities were considered as good here or better, than in either of their home states.

British and Dominion Premiers To Confer on Disarmament

Meeting in London May Postpone Indefinitely Return of Premier Meighen to Canada.

London.—It is believed that the idea of holding a preliminary disarmament conference was originally proposed by Wm. Morris Hughes, premier of Australia, and Wm. F. Massey, premier of New Zealand, who will be unable to go to the United States during the autumn owing to the convening of their respective parliaments. A London conference is supposed also to have been strongly favored by Japan.

Instead of the proposed preliminary conference, there will be held here a conference between the British cabinet ministers and the Dominion premiers. For this purpose, Premier Meighen of Canada has postponed indefinitely his idea of sailing for home.

This conference will be devoted first to a discussion of the policy and representations of the British Empire at the Washington conference, and second, to the advisability of asking the Washington Government to postpone the disarmament and Pacific conference to some later date than Nov. 11.

Such a postponement would not only be agreeable to the Dominion premiers, who will be unable to be in Washington in November, but it would be convenient to the British Government because, in the event of Irish negotiations proving successful, it might become necessary to hold an autumn session of parliament to legislate for a new Irish settlement.

Stopping for a few minutes in the lee of the land we held another council. The wind had increased and while caps were beginning to show on the lake, also the wind which had been fair would now begin our broadside and the boat was light. Then again to weather the point our course must be south in place of east. After some discussion I decided to go on, and we placed a few stones in the bow of the boat for ballast. Then, putting two reefs in the sail, we sailed out close-hauled and found, alas, we made some leeway, there being not enough cargo on board to trim her properly. Still, by shifting the passengers midships and I in the bow, the boy at the sheet, old Antoine steering, we thought though close enough, if the wind held steady we could make it. I forgot to mention that we had unshipped the big sweep in the morning and were now steering by rudder.

Occasionally spray would break over the boat and this seemed to excite our Scotchman who got his arm twisted in the sheet and nearly went overboard. I sat him down rather roughly on the thwart and told him not to stir, but when I went forward, hearing a shout from the boy, he was at the sheet again and within an ace of going over the side. We lost some ground here as Antoine was watching the antics of our looney; so yelling to keep her up to the wind, I fetched Mr. Scott a crack on the head with a spare tiller, and down he went, quiet enough. This alarmed the little girls and they began to cry; also they were seasick as the wind was getting heavier, at times the boat showing half her keel. We were nearing the end of the point and the surf was braking over the rocks to some distance out. It was an anxious time for me, and I told Antoine and the boy to take a child apiece if we struck, and I would help the wife and baby, or rather youngest child who was about six, I should think. The Scot would have to help himself, as he was now sitting in the bottom of the boat looking very stupid. Then stretching along the bow I watched keenly for rocks, a wave of the hand guiding the steersman. For twenty minutes we were in considerable danger and the noise of the surf was deafening. One could have clucked a biscuit on the rocks from the boat, and old Antoine said it was only our light draught saved us. Round the point we went into a beautiful little bay, the shores of which were lined with cedar (the only place they show in the whole course of the river) and landing, the whole party had a good rest and wash, even Sooky behaving more rationally than usual.

It was now again fair wind and shaking the reefs out of our sail away we went for Grand Rapids, the wind blowing half a gale behind us. Never was better time than that, and, Cross

Lake, though six miles in width, was crossed in a few minutes. Then on we went, tearing for the head of Grand Rapids itself where the upper post was situated. I could recognize the tall form of my friend and mentor, Alex. Matheson, anxiously pacing the shore and staring at our boat which was coming along at a tremendous speed, favored both by wind and current. He was at that time in charge of all steamboat transport. Antoine held her well and we kept full sail up to the last minute, then dropped the yard and ran the bow of the old boat a foot into the bank. Poor Matheson was shaking his head and saying, "Ah, Lord B. (his nickname for me), I was sure it was you, no one else would be reckless enough to run those rapids under full sail."

Glad I was to land my party, and I expect the trip would linger long in the memory of Mrs. Missionary and her little girls. Fortunately the Str. Colwill was not expected until next day so we had plenty of time to recover from the effects of our journey.

For the information of modern readers I might state the Grand Rapids are situated at the mouth of the Saskatchewan River where it enters Lake Winnipeg. There is a continuous rapid for three miles, in which there are three drops over rocky ledges. The rapids can be run easily by experienced hands, and accidents can happen just as easily when the passage is undertaken by tenderfeet. The Hudson's Bay Company had two of their best river steamers hauled up these rapids by the help of many men and the nigger engines on the boats. These were the Nor-West and the Northcote. The Marquis was the largest boat, but rather too heavy for the river. A steel steamer called the Lily was tried for the navigation of the South Branch, but proved a failure. She was modelled on the plan of the African and Indian river boats, but did not work out on western rivers.

A steel tramway was laid by the H. B. Co. across the Portage and mule power was used to transport the freight from the lower warehouse to the large establishment at the head of the rapids. This still remains, but I believe is no longer used.

Myself and passengers all went aboard the Colwill next day, and the poor Scotch laddie, after a medical examination, was sent to the asylum for a few months. After seven years in the west I had been granted a year's furlough, and accompanied the valuable cargo of furs as far as St. Paul, these having come in by our steamer. We ascended the Red River by steamer, thence by train to St. Paul. Taking a receipt for the furs, I booked by the lake route east, sailing from Duluth and thence by water through the great lakes, down the rapids of the St. Lawrence out in the Gulf of Gaspe Basin, where my people were living at that time.

To Prosecute Income-Tax Defaulters

Many Have Not Complied With Law In Making Necessary Returns.

Ottawa.—Extensive prosecutions all over the country are about to be instituted by the taxation branch of the finance department against those who have failed to make returns of income as provided by the Income Tax Act. While the number making returns this year is very much greater than before, and with much less suspicion of fraud, and concealment, there are thousands who have not complied with the act at all, and evidently plan to escape the taxation which applies to all with income in excess of the statutory exemption.

The department, having returns from employers, has a good idea of those who are assessable, and it is not a difficult proposition to check and see if they have made returns. There are others who are not employed by companies or firms, but rather are in business for themselves or living in case, and it is not hard to get at this class either. The prosecutions for false returns initiated last year have had a salutary effect and have led to a greater accuracy. This year there are comparatively few cases of this score, but a great number who have ignored the law completely. The penalty is $25 for each day of default.

Bodies Of Fallen Soldiers Removed

Claim Many Canadian Graves in France and Flanders Are Empty.

London.—The Daily Express makes a sensational statement respecting Canadian bodies on the battlefields of France and Belgium. According to this paper, one of the startling allegations made by a responsible Canadian Government official working on the War Graves Commission is re-intering the dead, is that "many graves in the Great War cemeteries of Flanders and France marked with the names of fallen soldiers are in fact empty of remains."

The Canadian officer declared to the Daily Express representative: "There is a cemetery at Hooze, which has a whole line of empty graves, although each is marked with a cross and relatives and friends of the fallen have actually been in the cemetery when graves have been opened and found nothing. Their distress has been beyond imagination."

This officer says there appears to be a lack of supervision of the general work and in proof he relates how a wealthy Canadian from the West, on being denied the removal of his son from a cemetery in Flanders, managed to get two men to dig up the body at midnight and the remains were shipped across the Atlantic from Antwerp. One of the men engaged is understood to have been concerned in other cases of removal.

Census Work Nearly Finished

Ottawa.—While the great bulk of Canada's population census has now been taken, no definite figures may be published for another month, and it may be November before the population for the Dominion is officially announced. In the meantime much has to be done in the way of revision. The census branch is receiving a large number of reports from individuals who complain of having been overlooked.

Oilfields On Fire

Fire Is Raging in the Amatlan, Mexico.

Mexico City.—The Amatlan oilfields are on fire, with drilling towers falling like chaff and the workmen fleeing, according to reports received here describing "the greatest catastrophe in the history of the world's oilfields." The cause of the fire, is not known.

Financial losses cannot be estimated, say the advisers, which add that the conflagration dwarfs into insignificance the Pordro Del Llano conflagration.

Columns of fire hundreds of feet high are covering the field, it is declared, which is hundreds of acres in extent, and efforts to suppress the blaze are said to be considered hopeless.

Montreal.—Work is immediately to be begun in the city of a programme that calls for 1,500 substantial brick houses for workmen.

A corporation composed largely of business men who feel that the housing shortage is handicapping the industrial progress of the city, will finance the project. Workmen will be encouraged to buy houses.

McMillan Expedition To North

Hope To Winter in Latitude Where No Boat Has Been for Hundred Years.

Halifax.—"We hope to winter in Fury and Hecla Straits, seventy degrees north latitude where no ship has been for one hundred years," said Prof. Donald B. MacMillan, in an interview on board his exploration ship Bowdoin, en route to the far north to explore one thousand miles of unknown coast line on the western shores of Baffinland.

The Bowdoin stated Prof. MacMillan was one of the smallest ships ever travelled north. The ship was made by Captain MacMillan, a British naval officer, who was a member of a northwest passage expedition. The ship was built down with two masts, the Fury and the Hecla, whose names were given to the ship. They discovered, were forced to return to England. No ship has ever been through the Fury and Hecla straits and the Bowdoin was built smaller in order to navigate them.

Benny tried again—"The Sween has Quooned" This time the teacher stage whispered for Benny to come off, but Benny was determined to get it right, so expanding his chest and filling his lungs to bursting, he screamed. "The Quoön has Sweened"—Then he quit.

LOST - 29 POUNDS DYSENTERY WAS THE CAUSE

Dysentery is one of the worst forms of bowel complaint, and hardly any other disease so quickly undermines the strength and brings about a condition of prostration and utter collapse that often terminate fatally. To check the unnatural discharge without bringing on constipation you should use that grand old remedy with a reputation extending of 76 years.

Mr. G. H. McVagh, Mawer, Sask., writes:—"About eight years ago I had a severe attack of dysentery. I was sick for three weeks. I weighed 154 lbs. when I took sick and 125 when I got it stopped. I think I tried every medicine on the market, but did not find relief until I used Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, and one bottle did it. I think there is nothing like it for diarrhoea or dysentery. I always keep some on hand as a person does not know when he will need it." Price 50c a bottle; put up only by The T. Novel Use For German Indemnity

Britain May Use Her Share to Help Overseas Settlers.

The parliamentary empire development committee is considering a novel scheme of overseas development. The proposal is that part of the indemnity which Britain is to receive from Germany should be placed in a fund out of which loans would be made to suitable men and families to enable them to settle in the overseas dominions. Next December, Great Britain will receive £550,000,000 worth of German bonds, and the idea is that £50,000,000 worth of these bonds should be guaranteed by the British Government and made the basis of advances to overseas settlers, such advances to be secured by mortgages on properties acquired and developed by the settlers.

PALE AND NERVOUS SCHOOL CHILDREN

Need Rich, Red Blood to Regain Health and Strength

Many children start school in excellent health, but after a short time home work, examinations, hurried meals and crowded school rooms cause their blood to become weak, their nerves over-wrought and their color and spirits lost. It is a mistake to let matters drift when boys and girls show symptoms of nervousness or weak blood. They are almost sure to fall victims of St. Vitus Dance, or drift into debility that leads to the "boy or girl" who is "sturdy and fit for school." The value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in cases of this kind is shown by the statement of Mrs. Watson, Grand Falls, N.B., who says: "In the spring of 1919, my daughter, Thistle, then 12 years of age, began to show symptoms of nervousness which developed into St. Vitus Dance. She seemed to lose control of her limbs and at times every muscle in her body seemed to be twitching and jerking, and the trouble seemed to be growing worse. We finally decided to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and the result was better even than we had hoped for, and she is now enjoying the best of health." You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

IS YOUR NOSE PLUGGED? HAVE YOU CATARRH?

If Subject to Colds, Here is Real Good Advice.

Don't load-up your stomach with cough syrups, scald healing medication through the nostrils—send it into the passages that are subject to colds and Catarrh. Easy to do this with CATARRHOZONE, which helps a cold in ten minutes. Even to the lungs goes the healing vapor of Catarrhozone—all through the bronchial tubes, nostrils and air passages—everywhere that disease remains will Catarrhozone follow. You'll not have colds, nor will you suffer from sniffles, bronchitis, or throat trouble if Catarrhozone is used. Get it today but beware of dangerous substitutes meant to deceive you for genuine Catarrhozone. Large size, two months treatment, costs $1.00, small size 50c, sample size 25c, all dealers or the Catarrhozone Co., Montreal.

Placating The Crowd.

The British Government declares it is abandoning war subsidies to agriculture. The amount would amount to $100,000,000 or $150,000,000. But it is making a grant of £3 per acre for wheat, and £4 for oats this year, the cost of which will be between $75,000,000 and $175,000,000. This is one way of trying to placate the economy crowd.—Toronto Mail and Empire.

The worms, that infest children from their birth are of two kinds, those that find lodgement in the stomach and those that are found in the intestines. The latter are the most destructive, as they cling to the walls of the intestines and if not interfered with work havoc there. Miller's Worm Powders dislodge both kinds and while expelling them from the system serve to repair the damage they have caused.

Conditions Good in Germany

Are Hopeful of Paying Indemnity, Says Canadian Officer.

The German people are hopeful of being able to pay the war indemnity and indications are that they will be able to do so, if given time, in the opinion of Major Spencer Relph, controller of the clearing office in Canada, which is handling enemy property and reparations.

Major Relph has just returned to Ottawa after spending some time in England and Germany. In regard to conditions in Germany, Major Relph stated that he found every evidence that all factories were running full blast all night and German agricultural prospects were excellent.

Oil Has More Steam Than Coal.

The amazing increase in the use of oil for fuel is not surprising when it is considered that, weight for weight and with proper burners, the oil gives 50 per cent. more steam than coal. It is easier than coal to handle, it obviates dust and dirt, makes little smoke and no ashes and can be lighted instantly and controlled absolutely.

Peevish, pale, restless and sickly children owe their condition to worms. Mother Graves' Worm Expeller will relieve them and restore health.

A Tennis Frock Of Striped Silk

By Marie Belmont.

Heavy crepe de chine is an admirable silk for the summer sport frock. While the plain weaves may be had in many very lovely colors the striped silk can be developed in most attractive modes. An excellent quality of crepe de chine is chosen for the model illustrated. It has a cream ground, which is broken at regular intervals by stripes of blue and gold. On skirt and blouse, which is cut with kimono sleeves, the stripes are horizontal. Bands of the silk with the stripes running vertically extend from shoulders to hem and give a touch of distinction to the dress. The tie is made of blue silk.

Mild Epidemic Going Round.

It is due to impurities in the water, causes cramps, diarrhoea, headache. Those who take twenty drops of Nervine in sweetened water usually get quick relief. It is really wonderful how good old Nervine fixes up a sour stomach, how it stops hiccoughs, how quickly it puts a stop to those nasty attacks of gas. Every home should keep a bottle of two of trusty old Nervine on hand. 35 cents everywhere.

Travel A Good Investment

Get Away For a Vacation And See The Sights.

In every person's life at some time or other there comes a feeling of utter exhaustion, or, as many say, "Fed up," with a general lack of interest in their everyday surroundings. Hard work is as a rule blamed for this condition, and little is done to remedy it until too late and the family physician is called. Work may be to a certain extent responsible for this condition, but the chief reason is the lack of a change, a relaxation of the mind. Get away for a few weeks vacation, see new sights and how the rest of the world live. Enjoy a change of climate. There are thousands of interesting places in Canada which may be enjoyed either winter or summer, and within easy reach via the Canadian Pacific Railway.

A trip at any season of the year will prove a good investment and send you back with renewed vigor, broader and much wiser from the knowledge gained. A postal card to any Canadian Pacific Agent will bring you literature and any information desired.

Going Down.

A Scotchman who was notorious as a skeptic had erected a massive mausoleum for his final rest and one day he observed an elder of the kirk gazing at it.

"Strong place that, hey David?" he said. "I'll tak a mon some time tae raise up oot o' that at the day o' judgment."

"Hoot, mon," said David, "ye can gie yerseel little fash about raisin' when that day comes. They'll tak the bottom 'oot o' it and let ye fa' doon."—Boston Transcript.

Canada's Outlook Is Bright

News That Hushes the Howls of the Pessimist.

"Splendid crops all over Canada" is the news that flashes from the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa.

It is news that hushes the howls of the pessimist and kindles anew the confidence every true Canadian has in his country.

The years following the war have been pointed to as the years of Canadian expansion, and now that the after-war unrest is settling. Nature has turned in to get this young nation off to a flying start.—Toronto Telegram.

Hall's Catarrh Medicine

Those who are in a "run down" condition will notice that Catarrh bothers them much more than when they are in good health. This fact proves that while Catarrh is a local disease, it is greatly influenced by constitutional conditions. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE is a Tonic and Blood Purifier, and acts through the blood upon the mucous surfaces of the body, thus reducing the inflammation and restoring normal conditions. All druggists. BALL DOPE

Well, Monitor got away with some good ball last Tuesday at the Gap, and romped home with first money.

As per above, we were right there on the rooting stuff, but cannot just figure out where we got the uniform. Practically all the boys played good ball. Gillan (shown below) got after a high one in the outfield but, forgetting his basket managed to let it drop again.

Our old friend Kirk filled 3rd base in first class style. The above photo shows him in action. Mr. of Cadogan, played good stuff in the box, doing some funny things with the ball that completely fooled every batter. But had nerve enough to get up and face him. The usual expression and other facial contortion was luckily caught on the face of one of his opponents, as the

Our old friend Pat. did his bit behind the bat in his usual competent manner and stopped some that apparently had a date at Chicago, or other points east. You'll notice his hair is being raised by the wind of the ball coming to him

As was expected, Loyalist lived up to their usual standard of kicking most everything they could

Taken by and large, though there was good ball played and every member of our team did their utmost to "play the game"

During the afternoon there was a good game of football played, at which ye Ed. refereed. The score stood at the finish 0-0, and while we don't know the names of the teams opposing, yet there was some good play. It was lack of combination that held both teams scoreless.

One Way of Winning
A Ball Game

While at the Gap last Tues. we overheard and understood that the League game to be played between Loyalist and Monitor at Monitor the following day would be postponed. It was desirable, in view of the fact that both teams were already tired after two days of ball, and also several of the players would not be able to make the grade to the game. Well and good.

Then after getting things lined-up like this, Loyalist shows up at Monitor on Wednesday, and endeavors to steal the game by default. As a result of the argument, the decision of the game will be left to the Executive Committee of the League, and we sincerely hope that they are made acquainted with the facts. A fitting reward for a bunch of poor sports of this calibre would be expulsion from the League altogether.

Very pretty, Loyalist, and quite natural for you, too. But—there's many a slip twixt cup and lip remember.

While we cannot state definitely, our old friend Doc. Larder is expected back this week-end.
